

SAN DIEGO SHOW BEGINS NEW YEAR

Big Aerial Parade By 12 Army Planes Features Opening Day.

San Diego, Cal., March 18.—With an aerial parade of military airplanes, headed by four record-breaking machines, as one of its features, the Panama-California International exposition was dedicated today in the presence of one of the largest crowds ever assembled in southern California. Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, and representatives of president Woodrow Wilson, delivered the address of the day.

At noon, president G. A. Davidson offered a toast to peace and declared San Diego's exposition formally opened for its second year—a record which bids fair to stand for all time. Beside secretary Lane and president Davidson, others who had place on the program were governor Hiram Johnson, of California; representatives of seven other western states; Charles C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific International exposition, and state and city officials from all parts of the Pacific coast.

Planes Are Released.
"Miss San Diego—1916," raised the exposition flag; Count Val de Salazar raised the flag of Spain sent by King Alfonso, and the standards of 15 other nations, all exhibitors at the exposition, were unfurled to the breeze while war vessels in the harbor fired salutes.

12 Planes in Flight.
The airplane parade was the most spectacular feature of the day. It began from the North island government aviation school. Twelve army tractors circled the grounds.

Exposition officials are confident that the feature will have even a more successful year in 1916 than it enjoyed last year. Many exhibits were brought in from San Francisco at the close of the Panama-Pacific International exposition last December and the "16th" has been greatly enlarged.

SEESSE IS WEDDED TO MISS LOUDER

License Issued in Deming; A Mrs. Geo. L. Seesse Lives in Los Angeles.

An El Paso-Los Angeles marital complication has followed the movement of troops into Mexico.

The marriage at Deming, N. M., on Feb. 26, of George L. Seesse to Miss Cecile Louder, of El Paso, was kept a secret until this week, when the bride, following the departure of George L. Seesse, Associated Press correspondent, from El Paso, for Columbus, N. M., to accompany the American army of invasion into Mexico, announced that the newspaper man was her husband.

The announcement was made to some doctor friends and finally found its way to The Herald. The bride showed a marriage certificate.

Miss Louder is a nurse, recently working at Holston hospital, and prior to her engagement there, she was employed at Providence. She is a sister of the Joe Louder and her father is a horse owner.

The Herald's correspondent at Deming affirmed that the couple were married in Deming by Judge C. C. Rogers on the date given and added that Mr. Seesse represented himself as an Associated Press man. The correspondent said that Mr. Seesse was later seen by Deming people at Columbus, N. M., the day following the attack upon Columbus by Villa, which he covered for the press association.

Persons from El Paso, who have been at Columbus recently, state that a charming young woman was with him there and that he introduced her freely as "Mrs. Seesse." They said that she had jokingly said that she intended to accompany her husband into Mexico and act as a nurse for wounded soldiers, asserting that this was her profession.

The news that "George L. Seesse was married on Feb. 26 at Deming, N. M., to Miss Cecile Louder," was wired to Los Angeles, where back came the following message to The Herald:

"Mrs. George L. Seesse lives in Los Angeles. She says she and Seesse were married 11 years ago in Chicago. They have had four children. Mrs. Seesse has heard nothing about any marriage in New Mexico and she never heard of Miss Louder. She says she had a telegram from George Seesse two days ago in which he told her he was going with the troops into Mexico. Associated Press people here know nothing about a wife in El Paso." The message asked The Herald to supply more details.

"Has there been a divorce?" The Herald wired back.

"Mrs. Seesse denies there has been any divorce," came the answer.

Then The Herald sent a message to the superintendent of the Associated Press at San Francisco asking: "Is George L. Seesse married? If so, where is his family?"

The reply came back: "Yes, wife and children in Los Angeles."

Meantime, Geo. L. Seesse, Associated Press correspondent, has gone back to Mexico with the Pershing troops and the young nurse has gone to Rockwell county, Texas, informing her sister friends that she may be addressed there as "Mrs. George L. Seesse." One of her last statements to an El Paso doctor was: "It is not true that my husband has a wife and children anywhere. Somebody is trying to hold him up for money, maybe. Would he introduce me to his friends here if he had a wife elsewhere?"

Miss Louder was living at 516 Mesa avenue at the time the Deming records show a marriage license issued to "George L. Seesse and Cecile Louder." George L. Seesse, Associated Press correspondent, who came to El Paso from Los Angeles, was living at the same address at that time.

Later, according to friends, after their wedding was announced, they took an apartment in the Dwyer apartments on Santa Fe street.

In El Paso George L. Seesse of the Associated Press talked freely about his "family" and his children, and to one man he said he had been divorced from his wife for three years.

When called over the telephone from El Paso while he was in Columbus, and asked about the reported marriage to an El Paso girl, Mr. Seesse declared that there was "nothing to it."

WHELP HIGH SCHOOL PLAY FOR HERALD

Pageant Receipts Will Help to Prepare Auditorium For Use.

Rome, mistress of the world for so long a period of the world's history, will be portrayed "in all its glory" by the senior class of the high school in the stupendous Pageant of Civilization, which will form their own graduation exercises as well as those of all the eighth grades of the city schools, and also will mark the dedication of the stadium at the new high school. Special scenery for the pageant has been ordered painted by the Kansas City Scenic company and it will cost about $700. The illumination effects which will play a large part in creating the spectacular effects of the pageant, will be supplied by 24 huge flood lights which will be purchased by the school. These are to be purchased by the school board as a part of the permanent equipment of the auditorium of the new high school building and will cost between $650 and $700.

The Cost Is High.
It is estimated that the cost of producing the pageant, in which between 4000 and 5000 school children will take part, will be between $1000 and $1500. Of this a part has been appropriated for this purpose by the school board, but the sale of the tickets for the pageant is expected to cover the expense of the production. The building appropriation does not cover the expense of equipping the auditorium stage and if there should be any money beyond what will be needed for the library, an asbestos drop curtain will be purchased for the stage and scenic equipment secured.

Miss Catherine Flynn is directing the training of the senior class for its Roman scene. This will open with a triumphal procession of the Roman legions, followed by the return of the Gallie war. Eugene Womeldorf will act the role of Julius Caesar. Albert Tatum will be Brutus. The scene will be acted by Walter Clayton and Calphurnia by Beth Luther.

War Correspondent With No Puttees or Big Glasses

Frank B. Elser, wearing neither his glasses, puttees, khaki or a Stetson hat, arrived from New York Friday night to join Gen. Pershing's column as the staff correspondent of the New York Times.

In spite of his lack of "scenery," Mr. Elser is a war correspondent of international reputation, as he has been covering the European war from the lines of the allies and was called to New York to cover the Mexican story with Gen. Pershing's column. He left Saturday morning for Columbus where he will leave tonight to join the column at the front.

Mr. Elser is a native of Fort Worth but has been in the east for a number of years on different newspapers and with news associations.
